

Real Estate is the ideal vehicle to express my appreciation for hard work, entrepreneurial spirit, and desire to help others achieve their goals. I have a skillset and reputation that enables me to practice my profession, teach others what I've learned, and build their happiness as I move forward along my journey.

My client first attitude was built in my prior fourteen year long customer service career within the automotive industry.

Previously the owner/operator of real estate acquisition company RMT Property Solutions, I am currently a Realtor with Keller Williams Realty, and proud to report that my 2019 average sale was 98.6% of list price.

Compassion and service have been the guiding force behind my professional career. The reliable tools of my trade are always transparency, support, and the loyalty to negotiate strongly for benefit my clients. Helping people achieve their goals is my mission.

Where larger than life Realtors and firms lack the ability to scale attention to each of their clients, I provide a dedicated and educational one-on-one experience. Every step of the process we will come through together both comfortable and more knowledgeable.

As a husband and father, the best example I can set for my two daughters is to wake up every morning doing what I love. Showing them that anything in life can be possible and achievable with perseverance, while providing a great life for my family is my ultimate goal.

It's a goal that continues to be realized by helping people like you through your next exciting real estate transaction.

Ryan Traynor

Realtor, Keller Williams Realty